Jap Planes Raid American Warships in Leyte Gulf

Storms Retard Ground Action In Philippines

U. S. Destroyers Penetrate Inland Sea To Shell Ormoc

By MURLIN SPENCER
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Wednesday, Nov. 29. (AP)—Japanese torpedo and dive bombers swarmed down on American warships and transports in Leyte Gulf Monday in the heaviest such raid since reversion of the Philippines and United States destroyers the same night negotiated treacherous waters to shell Ormoc in their first penetration of the Philippine inland sea.

The actions, on opposite sides of the island where storms stalemated the ground action, were announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Damage is acknowledged.

The enemy planes, boring through intense ack-ack from the warships, attacked units which included a battleship and unspecified damage was acknowledged.

The swift American destroyers, to get over to the west side of Leyte, had to pass through straits washing islands in the hands of the Japanese.

Dean Schedler, Associated Press war correspondent, who was aboard one of the destroyers, said the small force boldly shelled Ormoc from close range for three hours. They blasted enemy installations both in and around the vital town.

He reported the ships went through mined waters to carry out the dangerous assignment and got away without a scratch.

The Nipponese raiders of Leyte had to contend with stormy weather as well as anti-aircraft fire and interceptors. The raid cost the enemy thirteen planes destroyed by ack-ack—and two by fighters. That amounted to half the attacking force.

Japanese planes also attacked targets throughout Leyte the same day.

Rains Stall Yanks

The destroyer attack on Ormoc, the port into which the Japanese have been feeding reinforcements for the bitter drawn out fight for West Leyte, was a daring enterprise. It probably entailed movement through the selfsame waters which Japanese fleet units found so perilous when they tried to slip into Leyte Gulf by way of Surigao Strait (one of three actions last October).

Incessant rains stalled Yank forces operating north and south of Ormoc. The Thirty-second Infantry division which has pushed down from Carigara bay below Limon, more than fifteen miles from Ormoc, sloshed across their mud-boles, maintaining pressure on the enemy.

Green, Bidding
For Labor Unity,
Offers To Resign

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 28 (AP)—President William Green, in a fervent bid for union with the CIO and United Mine Workers, offered today to quit the helm of the American Federation of Labor if it would lead to labor solidarity.

Green, deploring the reception accorded to his other pleas for unity by CIO President Philip Murray, said he had been subjected to an unprecedented attack by UMW President John L. Lewis, told the AFL convention he would be "willing to go" as president after twenty years in the office, if it would bring about a combination of forces.

The convention voted to re-open negotiations, if possible, with the CIO and miners, which collapsed during 1943.

Combined membership of the big three groups would total about thirteen million workers.

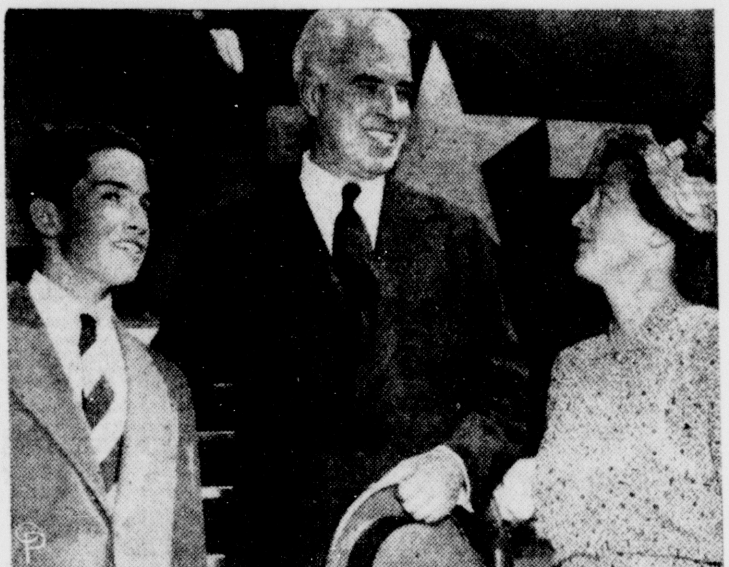

The convention took the step over the protest of John Marchiondo, president-elect of the AFL Progressive Miners, who said Lewis hadn't changed his spots and that the 35,000 members of that AFL group "won't stop fighting" against absorption by the Lewis-dominated union.

The AFL in effect "buried" resolutions which would have set up a national action group similar to CIO's PAC. It sent to its executive committee, without a word of debate, the proposals that AFL organize to get out the labor vote.

On the controversial wage stabilization question, the convention approved the naming of a committee to call upon President Roosevelt and request that he immediately revise the policy to allow for increased living costs.

The convention asked for an executive order "to realistically adjust the Little Steel formula" to permit employers and workers to voluntarily wage adjustments without submission to the National War Labor Board.

NEW SECRETARY AND FAMILY

MARRIED, and the father of three sons, the new United States Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius is pictured with his wife and one of their boys. Born in Chicago forty-four years ago, Stettinius had made a national reputation in business before, at the age of 30, he became chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation. A year ago he entered the State department as under-secretary, after serving as lend-lease administrator.

160 Are Feared Dead in British Munitions Blast

Rescue Work Continues Following Earthquake- Like Explosion

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
BURTON-ON-TRENT, England, Nov. 28 (AP)—Rescue work among the waters of the RAF's bomb depot near here led to fears tonight that more than 160 persons might have died in the explosion which shook the countryside yesterday.

The estimate of the dead was made by the British Press Association, which reported twenty-three bodies had been recovered from debris of the ammunition store. Rescue workers stated that another 100 bodies might be buried there, while thirty-one were known to have been crushed in the collapse of an adjoining plaster works. Six bodies have been brought out of the factory.

After preliminary proceedings, an inquest over seven of the bodies was adjourned indefinitely. A coroner indicated it might be some time before the inquiry was resumed.

Scores "Simply Disappeared"

The Bratislava radio in a German language broadcast said flatly that "yesterday's explosion in Derbyshire was caused by a German V-weapon."

Earlier, unofficial reports, speculated that the number of dead would reach perhaps more than 250, but an air minister spokesman said it is not likely that the number of killed will exceed the twenty or so known dead and the twenty-two to twenty-five now missing, who may be dead.

An additional thirty or more persons are missing, but it is believed most of these may be alive.

Police on the scene said that the task of compiling a list of casualties was complicated by "scores of people who simply have disappeared."

The tremendous blast, heaving up soil, buildings and livestock over a wide radius, and making craters 250 yards across, shocked the people of nearby villages as if an earthquake or a great bombardment had hit them. Many ran for air raid shelters, or huddled against brick wall walls.

Americans Among Rescuers

More than twenty-four hours after the explosions—starting apparently from a single bomb and then spreading swiftly—the search continued for those missing. American troops were among the rescuers.

London Paper Says
Chiang Kai-Sheks
Have Separated

LONDON, Wednesday, Nov. 29 (AP)—The London Daily Mail said today that Generalissimo and Mrs. Chiang Kai-Shek have separated and that she may make her home in Miami, Fla.

In a Calcutta dispatch, the Mail reported it had been common knowledge in Chungking for some time that the Chiangs were unhappy and the break finally was made after an open disagreement at a Chungking tea party.

Mrs. Chiang, who is in the United States for medical treatment, is likely to carry out a lecture tour on the Chinese political situation, which is bound to create a sensation," the Mail said.

733,030 Casualties Are Reported By Great Britain in World War 2

By WILLIAM FRYE
LONDON, Nov. 28 (AP)—The cost of Britain's five years of total war—the normal life of the nation obliterated, 15 per cent of the whole population casualties, the riches stored up by past generations dissipated—was described to the world today in a government white paper.

Grim statistics told the story of the United Kingdom's war contribution:

Total casualties of 733,030 including 136,115 civilians killed and wounded; and 29,629 merchant seamen killed; the export trade, basis of Britain's wealth and power—virtually abandoned; overseas gold reserves spent on war materials; one home in three damaged and one in

Decision To Hold Closed Hearings On FCC Assailed

House Committee's Action Termed "Unfortunate and Unwise"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—Amid cries of "scandal" and "white-wash," the House committee investigating the Federal Communications Commission decided today to conduct future hearings behind closed doors.

As a result, its counsel resigned and two of its members publicly protested. Rep. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.), who voted against the termination of public hearings, as did Chairman Lea (D-Calif.), asserted that the action "might well create a national scandal."

Lea termed the decision of the five-man committee "unfortunate, unwise and a mistake."

The decision came as the committee decided specially with sale of radio station WMCA, New York, to Edward J. Noble, former undersecretary of commerce, by Donald Flamm.

One witness, Leslie Evan Roberts, former public relations director of the station, has testified that he participated in what he termed a "conspiracy" to "scare Flamm into selling the station."

Noble Purchased Station

Noble purchased the property in 1930 for $850,000 and subsequently sold it to Nathan Straus, New York city financier, for $1,255,000. Noble issued a statement today declaring he wanted no whitewash. He accused the committee's chief counsel, John J. Sirica, of using his official position "to try a private lawsuit which Flamm has brought against me."

Immediately following the committee's decision to close the hearings to the public, Sirica tendered his resignation, declaring:

"There is great public interest in this case. I don't want it on my conscience that I submitted to a whitewash. Therefore, I am tendering my resignation, effective at once."

Robert Barker, assistant counsel, was named his successor.

In protesting the committee's action, Wigglesworth, reading from a prepared statement, told colleagues:

"Ever since the start of this investigation, this committee and its staff have met with constant obstruction, intimidation and underhand tactics from those in high places in the attempt to hamstring its work and to suppress the truth."

Says Administration Interfers

"Every time the attempt has been made to take this case up, tremendous pressure has been brought to bear from administration sources to suppress the case entirely or to postpone indefinitely the presentation of the facts to the Congress and to the people."

He declared that "the strength and character of this pressure" constituted the "strongest evidence" there "is something rotten in Denmark" which could not stand "the light of honest investigation."

Rep. Hart (D-N.J.), who supported the committee's action, said "all talk of intimidation of this committee is without foundation," and the objective of the investigation could "best be obtained" by conducting closed hearings.

Before the session was closed, Philip Handelman, an attorney for Flamm, endeavored to protest the action and was ordered from the room.

"I want the record to show that I was forcibly evicted," Handelman shouted as a policeman led him out. "I am not under your jurisdiction. I am a taxpayer. I pay your salaries."

Local Airmen Uses New Radar
Device in Bad-Weather Bombing

By SID FEDER
A BOMBING BASE IN ITALY, Nov. 14 (Delayed AP)—"Mickey," the new instrument that looks through heavy clouds and picks out targets, has turned the United States Fifteenth Air Force from a fair weather punching force into a twenty-four-hour rain or shine threat to the southern portion of Hitler's shrinking Europe.

A London dispatch said the new radar device permits accurate bombing through cloud cover three miles thick. The device transmits radio waves which strike surface objects and rebound to a receiver in a bomber, giving an outline of cities, coastlines, ships, railroad yards and other targets. Even individual buildings can be bombed.

Begin Night Raiding

In addition to this brand new weapon, the Fifteenth has developed the first American night raiding tactics. Night raiding had been a procedure left to the RAF exclusively while United States airmen concentrated on sharp, precision bombing in daylight.

Already credited with pioneering a technique for crashing through enemy oil targets and penetrating

Littell Accuses Biddle in Report To Senate Group

Attorney General Charged with Intervening in Shipyards Case

By LYN CROST
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—Attorney General Francis Biddle was accused by Assistant Attorney General Norman M. Littell today of intervening in a justice department case in behalf of Thomas E. (Tommy the Cork) Corcoran, one-time New Deal braintrustee now in private law practice.

Littell advised senators, it is understood, that the differences between him and Biddle arose because of the justice department practices contrary to basic principles of good government. Biddle has demanded Littell's resignation but Littell, a presidential appointee, has not complied.

Littell's assertions concerning Biddle were made in a memorandum he sent the Senate War Investigating committee which is seeking to determine whether Biddle's demand for Littell's resignation was the result of Littell's testimony before that committee.

Denying that was the fact, Biddle is reported to have informed the committee there were many personal differences between the two. Biddle said Littell's work in the Lands division was commendable, but he (Biddle) lacked personal confidence in his assistant attorney general.

Littell's Report

It was learned Littell's report stated:

"It was only when sharp differences on matters of principle in the conduct of government business within the department developed between us that our relations deteriorated. I do not consider that such differences can be classified as personal incompatibility" when the arrangement resulted from my refusal to co-operate with conduct of the attorney general which was contrary to basic principles of good government. Gen. Marshall Bill Goes to White House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Senate passed today and sent to the White House the bill to permit General George C. Marshall to continue as army chief of staff after he reaches 64, the normal retirement age. The bill passed the House yesterday. Marshall will be 64 on Dec. 31.

Canadian Draftees Continue To Oppose Overseas Fighting

OTTAWA, Nov. 28 (AP)—Canadian draftee troops from whose ranks the government is sending 16,000 abroad for reinforcement of the western front staged demonstrations in far Western Canada today as Parliament met in secret session on the conscription crisis.

Draftees who long have been scripted for home service but now for the first time face the possibility of serving overseas, have refused to take orders from their officers and a military spokesman at Terrence, British Columbia, frankly described them as "mutineers."

After three days of anti-conscription demonstrations frequently breaking into violence at half a dozen west coast draft camps, authorities stopped their pay and allowances in some instances today. Both French-speaking and English-speaking regiments are involved.

At Vernon, B. C., army regulations were read to every man in camp with emphasis on penalties threatening imprisonment for life for any soldier convicted of inciting to mutiny, rioting or taking part in any similar disturbance.

Furthermore, each man was informed individually that now that he had been made aware of the rules he was liable to be fired upon if he should take part in any demonstrations.

A French Canadian regiment at Terrace, demonstrating with guns for the first time, was stopped last night after marching through the streets for hours. From 1,000 to 1,500 men participated.

Approximately 25,000 draftees are stationed in British Columbia camps, of whom approximately 3,000 are estimated to be French speaking.

Similar demonstrations on a smaller scale have been sporadic elsewhere in Canada, and in the French speaking province of Quebec youth draft age civilians have staged protests.

State Department May Be Revamped By New Secretary

Stettinius Expected To Continue Streamlining Step-by-step

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—Now that he's about to be secretary of state, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., is expected to push ahead reorganization of the State Department, especially toward meshing economic and political affairs.

Colleagues don't think Stettinius will make any spectacular policy reversals or shake-ups when he formally takes over the reins. But he is sure to continue progressive streamlining of the department, they say.

Stettinius's appointment comes before the Senate Foreign Relations committee tomorrow, and is likely to be confirmed by the Senate this week.

His first job when he came to the department as under secretary last year was to tighten up on administration. Stettinius has said that work remains to be done on that job.

Main goal would be to gear together political division and economic sections working on similar problems. One favored plan would be to eliminate the present division set-up and have geographical offices comprising both economic and political affairs.

Another likely move would be development of a group of special advisers around Stettinius. His executive technique, which he used in business as well as in the lend lease administration, is to gather a team of trusted colleagues about him and give them wide responsibility.

Stettinius has already brought some of his earlier assistants to the State department. He may appoint others, as well as select men from the department to form a sort of cabinet.

A confirmed internationalist, Stettinius is considered sure to follow Cordell Hull's footsteps in trying to organize the world for peace and to cut down trade barriers.

Americans Drive Mile into Roer River Defenses

Patton's Army Registers Gains of Seven Miles in Germany

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
SUPREMACY HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Nov. 28 (AP)—The United States Third Army broke into the rich Saar basin along a new seven-mile front today and a full-scale battle at the Siegfried line appeared near as three main fortress cities of Saarbrücken, Saarlautern and Metz were brought within American artillery range.

To the north the United States Ninth Army seized three towns on the west bank of the Moselle River and Inde rivers, closing in on the stronghold of Jülich from three directions while the United States First Army squeezed closer to Düren, another barrier to the Cologne plain.

As the hard-working United States First and Ninth army battalions fought deeper into the enemy's tough Roer river line, hundreds of fighter-bombers roared out in close support of the ground forces.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army, in gains totaling seven miles, lengthened its holding inside Germany to a front of twenty-six miles.

The newest gains placed Third army troops within three and a half miles of Saarbrücken and within eight and a half miles of Saarlautern. They previously were reported within two miles of Metz.

Evacuating Civilians

A front dispatch from Lewis Hawkins, Associated Press correspondent, said some prisoners reported non-essential civilians already were being evacuated from the three cities, as well as from the French border cities of Sarreguemines and Forbach.

It was the fast-rolling Ninth-division which lunged across the German frontier as far as Düren, ten miles south of Metz, and Berus, three miles farther southeast. Both are a mile inside the border.

At the same time, the Ninth-division moved up to the Saar border at a new quarter—beyond Guesling, eight miles southwest of Metz.

On the Alsace front in the south the United States Seventh and French First armies were clearing the remaining Germans from the Vosges mountains and Alsatian (Continued on Page 5, Col. 7)

Russians Advance In Czechoslovakia, Northern Hungary

By W. W. HERCHER
LONDON, Wednesday, Nov. 29 (AP)—Advancing westward all across the breadth of Czechoslovakia and clearing the Germans from the right bank of the Tisza river in Northern Hungary, the Red army scored advances of as much as four miles yesterday on a closely linked front more than 110 miles long, Moscow disclosed.

The Russian communiqué, which announced these gains, with capture of more than sixty communities in Czechoslovakia and fourteen in upper Hungary, was silent concerning a German announcement that Soviet troops in a new drive west of the Danube ninety-eight miles south of Budapest, had seized Mohacs and were pushing toward the coal-mining city of Pécs in Southwest Hungary.

The Paris radio said the Red army also was approaching Lake Balaton, fifty-five miles northwest of Pécs, but on this, too, the Russians were silent.

The Russians never have confirmed any operations west of the Danube, about which the Germans have been broadcasting for more than a week.

Although Moscow dispatches said heavy rainfall hampered operations during the day, the Soviet communiqué disclosed steady advances on the right-angled front across Slovakia and in Northern Hungary.

The crossing of the Tisza river put the Red army thirty-five miles from the German border in Slovakia. The lower reaches of the river below Tokaj already were Russian-held.

In Slovakia one of the important centers taken was Vysni Svitek, in the southern approach to Dukla pass and ten miles southwest of the Polish border. The advance was general right on down to the Hungarian border due north of Nyiregyhaza.

Fighting currently was within twenty-five miles of the Slovakian strongpoints of Kassa and Presov, with General Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian army pressing the German back through the mountains where there are an estimated 25,000 anti-Nazi Slovak partisans.

British Troops Advance ROME, Nov. 28 (AP)—British troops have cleared the Lamone river's east bank for five miles northeast of Faenza and have sent patrols lancing across the stream on the southwest in a gathering threat to that strategic highway city at the edge of the Po plain. New Unemployment Compensation Features Considered by O'Connor

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28 (AP)—Three liberalizing features were considered by Governor O'Connor today as additions to the three-point unemployment compensation program he will present to the state legislature.

The proposals being studied by the governor are:

The insurance of state employees under the act, to the extent that state finances can sustain contributions.

The elimination of a waiting period of one week for claimants under the present law.

The increase of maximum benefit payments to $25 weekly (particularly to make such increases possible if the G. I. Bill of Rights is amended to effect increase of payments to $25 weekly for returning soldiers).

Should the liberalizing proposals be adopted, Maryland would remain in the forefront of states whose compensation laws are considered liberal, O'Connor said.

The program, previously announced by the governor as state policy and said to be slated for presentation to the general assembly.

To extend the coverage to employers of one or more workers at any time, to increase the duration of benefits to twenty-six weeks, to permit the payment of benefits to claimants registered for work to whom no suitable offer is made, even though sick or disabled.

fy, the order of February 16 which permitted the sending of letters or postal cards to certain provinces in liberated Italy, personal support remittances for civilians were permitted to be sent to Sardinia and the Italian provinces of Avellino, Bari, Benevento, Brindisi, Catanzaro, Cosenza, Foggia, Lecce, Matera, Naples, Reggio Calabria, Salerno, and Taranto.

The additional provinces to which civilian personal support remittances may be sent are: Ascoli Piceno, Aquila, Chieti, Grosseto, Macerata, Pescara, Rieti, Teramo, Terni, Viterbo, Campobasso, Prosinone, Littoria and Rome.

Remittances, the bulletin states, must be of a personal support character. Those sent to the provinces of Campobasso, Prosinone, Littoria and Rome must be made through correspondent banks of the Bank of Naples; to the other ten provinces, through correspondent banks of the Bank of Italy, Rome.

Instructions concerning payments will be sent by mail to the respective Italian banks which are named from the correspondent banks in the United States, the bulletin says. The Treasury department will announce maximum amounts which may be remitted.

Local banks will furnish information concerning the transmission of personal support remittances. Before the war, local post office officials said, many international money orders, in addition to regular postal services, were handled; but, only the transmission of letters or postal cards to designated provinces in Italy has been resumed. The mailing of packages is not yet permissible. International money order service to civilians has not been resumed, local officials point out. The post office service merely transmits the monetary negotiations between United States banks and corresponding banks in Italy.

Getting the Cart Before the Horse

THIS NEWSPAPER, as readers know, is heartily in favor of a world association of nations to prevent future wars based upon the principles laid down by the incomparable Dumbarton Oaks conference. It believes, further, that American participation in such an organization can be made sufficiently prompt and effective by means of a limited delegation of powers by the Congress under the standing provisions of the constitution, and it hopes this can be worked out. But it is hard for this newspaper to agree with the proposal by Senator Tom Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee reported from Washington by the Associated Press, that the Congress delay in defining the powers of an American delegate until the Senate approves an enabling treaty for the projected world organization. The Texan stated that he thought Congress could and must "write its own ticket on the extent of authority to be given this nation's representative in a world council," but he said we should not imperil by controversy over this question the peace-structure for which the foundations were laid at the Dumbarton Oaks conference. "We can take up the powers of the American delegate in separate legislation after we have approved the general plan for a security organization," he added. Well, now that will depend entirely upon what is called for by the general plan, which is yet to be rounded out with the Dumbarton Oaks draft as a basis. It would be far better for the world peace organization movement to have this controversial subject thoroughly debated and understood either beforehand or at the time an approving treaty is ratified. Certainly there should be no locking of the barn door after the horse is stolen. "Congress can say," Senator Connally said, "exactly how much authority, if any at all, such a delegate could have to order American military forces into action to prevent or repel aggression." Quite so. There would be no objection as to whether that is done by separate legislation, as suggested, or whether it is contained in the approving treaty. But, in the opinion of this newspaper, it should be done at the outset and not after the original commitments are made. Those commitments should be certain and agreeable to all parties concerned, and conforming to constitutional requirements, which specification is fortunately contained in the Dumbarton Oaks draft, and as the matter stands at present there seems no reason why they cannot be made so.

An Important Postwar Board

THE SENATE at Washington is reported as giving close scrutiny to those who will be entrusted with the tremendous responsibility of disposing of surplus war material. Men should be selected for the new Surplus Property Board on the sole basis of merit and without regard to political lame duck rewarding. President Roosevelt has nominated so far two members of the board, namely, former Governor Hurley of Connecticut, and Lieut. Col. Heller, of California, and it is reported that Senator Gillette, of Iowa, who failed of re-election, is to be named as the other member after his Congress term expires January 3. It has been well stated that the methods used in disposing of surplus war material might make or break the national economy for a period after the war. If only a small part of the supply is disposed of, the consequent loss of revenue will limit the amount of tax reduction possible. If most of the supply is dumped on the market with scant regard to producers or retailers of similar material, there will find little market for their wares for a considerable time. The vast importance of this task is to be seen in the estimate that when hostilities cease the government will have some seventy-five billions worth of materials to dispose of as surplus supplies. This represents about one-half of the total national income now. Thus it is seen that real ability as well as the highest integrity is essential in the membership of this board. This is impressed by the added fact that the Surplus Property bill, passed in September, contains some highly detailed and complex regulations for disposition of surplus materials, so much so that Will L. Clayton, surplus property administrator, refused to head the three-man board created in the bill because he thought these regulations unworkable. When he signed the bill, President Roosevelt warned that in its present form it might really "delay rather than expedite reconversion."

Yuletide Greetings For Our Fighters

CHRISTMAS CARDS still can be mailed overseas, up to December 15, provided they are sent by first-class mail and thus assured of forwarding privileges, according to Stephen Q. Shannon, director of the greeting card industry. He reveals the interesting information that in November 1943, the volume of V-mail Christmas cards coming into the country from the boys overseas exceeded outgoing cards, and that this seems to have been the case again this year. "Even though the service men are not able to buy the usual cards, they make up cards of their own," Mr. Shannon said. "The army has fostered contests among men at the front and the winning designs are used." This shows how much Christmas remembrance mean to those in the services away from home at Christmas time. Hungry as they are for heart-sustaining messages from home, they go more than half way in their Christmas greeting resourcefulness. This suggests that everyone should make out a list of persons in the service for timely receipt of Christmas greetings, especially in the case of those who may not have been thought of in time in the matter of gifts and other tokens of regard. The approach of Christmas in wartime furnishes an occasion for all to become thoughtful of those absent in their country's service. Honest expressions of simple seasonal sentiment from those back home will be welcomed wholeheartedly by anyone in the service. The manager of a military service department for a large greeting card concern recently said that soldiers like sentiment far better than jocular messages—that the trade has found most soldiers, sailors and marines prefer the old-fashioned thought in their purchase of Christmas cards, with special regard to beauty of design and warmth of sentiment in the greetings. Apparently, this sort of remembrance from home will prove a cherished testimonial, sustaining them through vicissitude to look forward to an eventual peacetime Christmas.

Mr. Stettinius Faces A Great Opportunity

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT followed the course he took in advancing James V. Forrestal, Jr., to the post of navy secretary by choosing Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state to succeed the retired Secretary Hull. There is merit in such a system, but in the present instance there may be excuse for doubts that the president has done as well as he might otherwise have done in view of the exacting requirements of the position, which call for an experience and an ability of statesmanship rank which are not possessed by the nominee by reason of his brief diplomatic tenure. The wisest choice, perhaps, would have been Secretary Stimson, whose experience and qualifications fit him peculiarly for the grave duties of the post. He is both an administrator of a high order, has a clever grasp of international affairs and has been foresight as to the implications of aggression in its inception as was frequently manifested when he was secretary of state and since. His past record in that respect looms large in view of what history records, and of the hopes that are universally shared for a world organization to avert future wars. Others who were mentioned lacked one or more of the necessary basic qualifications and the listing of Wallace was most inept inasmuch as he would most likely have proved a disaster with the country and with Congress. However, Mr. Stettinius is, and it is hoped that he can measure up to the heavy responsibilities thrust upon him. These call for an administrative competence that will bring greater efficiency into the department by reformation of the rusty machinery of both it and the foreign service, which has too long been neglected as the consequence of interdepartmental bickerings. They call also for tact and patience in the relations with Congress, particularly with the Senate in bringing to ratification the great treaties to emerge from this war. He is industrious, ambitious and has capacity stemming from an excellent business career. He faces a great opportunity and the hopes of everybody that he will realize it and make good. His greatest difficulty will be that of coping with dominance of his department by Mr. Roosevelt wherein firmness of character will be necessary.

When Dad Has a Grouch

By MARSHALL MASLIN
Father has a grouch. Keep away from him. Don't give him a chance to explode. You don't know what it is and he won't tell. But he's made at the world and anybody that crosses him will be sorry for it. Maybe it's expenses, maybe it's you—but he certainly IS sorry for himself. It's the way fathers are. You can't tell how sorry they are for themselves. And the better fathers they are, the more they pity themselves sometimes, the more they envy the gay dogs, the shiftless fellows, the irresponsible night-hawks who never go home until morning. You can't tell about fathers. They change so easily. One day they're about sixteen and they boast that they are like brothers with their children. When they're like that, you can say just about anything to them. But the next day, maybe, they're upon a high horse. They're on their dignity. They're acting like God and handing down decisions and expecting you to jump the moment they speak—and to remember to cut the grass and bring up the wood and be home right after school and to take things as seriously as they do. They suddenly get the idea that they're very, very old—and they act childish about it. Say! If a kid of sixteen acted like that, he'd get razed pretty quick. Kids of that age have to act like men—and if they don't they get told. But fathers do just about as they please and today Father's got a grouch on. So steer clear of him. Treat him politely. Act as if you knew him but not as if he were a close friend of yours. Agree with him, don't argue with him, make him feel ashamed of himself. It would never do to spoil him. Just be patient with him and finally he'll come around and forget his grudge and be friendly again—and don't YOU say a word about his having a grouch. Just let him alone and he'll be sorry and maybe he'll let you use about a gallon's worth of gas in the car. That's just about the way those grouches usually end.

IT TAKES A LOT OF FUEL TO COOK A WAR

Roosevelt Takes over State Portfolio In Appointing Stettinius, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—One of the secrets well-kept during the election campaign has come out at last. Secretary Hull's plan to resign because of ill health was known to the president's official family long before the election. No action was taken because it was deemed unwise from a political standpoint to saying anything during the campaign about the impending change. That Mr. Hull's health has been poor has, of course, been widely known in Washington but that he would find himself compelled to give up the office of secretary of state was known only to a few. Out of deference to Mr. Hull, there was little discussion of a public nature concerning his inevitable retirement but behind the scenes there was much talk about former Justice Byrnes as a possible successor. However, it was understood that the president had special reasons for wanting to appoint Mr. Stettinius. Recommended by Hopkins Harry Hopkins, who is perhaps Mr. Roosevelt's closest friend and adviser, really recommended Mr. Stettinius originally. Mr. Hull wasn't consulted about the appointment until the president made up his mind to make it. In fact, there were a number of things from time to time in which the White House handled foreign policy and bypassed Mr. Hull. This was not, of course, a deliberate policy but merely the result of haste or the fact that the president had agreed to certain matters in personal conversation with Prime Minister Churchill and then forgot to clear it with the State department. An instance of this sort is reported to have occurred when Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, came to the State department once to discuss with Secretary Hull certain aspects of the recognition extended to the Italian government only to find that, while the prime minister and Mr. Hull knew about it, Mr. Hull didn't. The president is in truth his own secretary of state and it means smooth functioning for him to appoint a man like Edward Stettinius, who is young and amiable and follows explicitly the orders of his chief. This does not mean that Mr. Stettinius is lacking in ability, for he has learned a great deal as under-secretary of state and as the presiding chairman of the Dumbarton Oaks conference. He gets along well with Congress. Indeed, he handled the ticklish lend-lease question so diplomatically that Harry Hopkins immediately sponsored him for higher office. Liked by Russians and British Mr. Stettinius is well-liked not only by the Russians for his generous treatment of their lend-lease problems but by the British, too. These are important qualifications nowadays for an American secretary of state. Add to this the fact that Mr. Stettinius was chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation and has background of business and public relations and you see in the new cabinet member the product of a new generation of Americans who have forsaken business for a public career. In a way it is fortunate that Mr. Stettinius is a man of means. Mr. Hull retired after fifty-one years of public service with no nest egg of money such as men make in the business world. He could be retained as an official adviser of the president, and remain on the payroll of the government. His advice would be helpful but it is regrettable that men of his stature and great service are not voted a pension equal to their salaries. Reorganization Likely Mr. Stettinius is well-liked by the press. He is a man of integrity and a devout churchman. He is well thought of in the department of state itself and should be able to carry forward a reorganization of that department, which will doubtless incorporate within its jurisdiction sooner or later many of the economic bureaus now engaged in wartime activity and perhaps the Office of Inter-American Affairs. A business man's background will be helpful in the department of State where far-flung operations are to be carried on in connection with trade and commercial agreements as well as various problems of reconstruction in Europe after the war. But with all that is being said in praise of Mr. Stettinius, there is no way of glossing over the truth, which is that Mr. Roosevelt has taken over the portfolio of secretary of state himself. Bonds Are Seen Likely To Grow In Buying Power

By SAMUEL B. PETTINGILL
Opinion is growing that deflation rather than inflation will come when the war ends. Deflation means lower prices and lower prices mean that bonds will grow in buying power.

each annually will fill the gap of war spending for only two months. The draft took millions of young farmers, yet farm production has been its greatest in history. This is partly due to farmers investing in fertilizers to avoid taxes imposed by a government which wanted to decrease production. In 1944 we produced thirty per cent more corn than during a ten year average, forty-five per cent more wheat, one hundred and sixty per cent more soy beans, seventy-five per cent more peanuts and a huge cotton crop. Meantime farm markets abroad have been declining except what is given away by lend-lease.

Varied Factors
Machine tool production thirty times normal and the tools good for many years of use, the greatest industrial plants in the world, none of which was destroyed by war; enormous surplus of war goods, the greatest capacity to produce, and a market that will drop when war orders of ninety billion a year come to an end. A broker once wired his client, "some think the market will go up and some think it will go down. I do too. Whatever you do will be wrong. Act at once." I'm like the broker. If we have deflation, your bonds will buy more goods three and five years hence. If we have inflation, your bonds will still be an offset against federal taxes, dollar for dollar, and there will be plenty of taxes. Whatever happens, you will be right. Act at once.

Doubled Army Is Foreseen by May For Peacetime

By CENTRAL PRESS
WASHINGTON—Rep. Andrew J. May (D.) of Kentucky, chairman of the House Military Affairs committee, believes that the nation's peacetime army probably will consist of 500,000 to 600,000 men. This would be almost double our prewar army, which numbered 302,968 enlisted men and 23,192 officers on Aug. 31, 1940—its lowest point since World War I. The army now consists of approximately eight million men, while the navy, according to Chairman David I. Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts, of the Senate Naval Affairs committee, has about three and a half million officers and men. May said he did not know how large a navy personnel was being planned for after the war but that presumably it would be considerably larger than its previous peacetime strength.

Tax Jump Is Seen Coming
More than 60,000,000 workers should get ready for another tax increase Jan. 1—an automatic doubling of the old age pension payroll tax which, like the income withholding levy, is deducted from pay checks.

A movement has been started in Congress by Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan, to freeze the tax at present rates. But while Vandenberg has been successful in forcing through a tax-freeze provision in each of the last three years, his luck is in danger of running out this time.

The reason is that there is no revenue bill from the House on which to fasten a tax-freeze provision this year. And if one does come along, it may be an unimportant measure which President Roosevelt would not hesitate to veto.

In past years, Vandenberg has succeeded in nailing tax-freeze riders on bills which Mr. Roosevelt could not well veto. Unless the tax is frozen at the present level, it will automatically become two per cent on employees and two per cent on employers on Jan. 1. It is now one per cent on each.

Wooden Planes Out
One of the war's experiments—the intense effort to develop wooden airplanes—has fizzled as far as the army is concerned. The War department just recently cancelled the last of its contracts for plywood aircraft, although wood construction still is being used in gliders which are considered expendable.

The army had no success with the plywood planes. Its chief complaint was that to make them structurally safe, the planes had to be strengthened here and there and "beefed up" to the point where they were overweight.

Then, too, the surplus of light metals sounded the death knell for wooden military aircraft. One of the prime reasons for the army's experimentation was the shortage of aluminum early in the war.

No Cigarette Relief Seen
With cigarette rationing proposals tossed overboard by OPA Chief Chester Bowles and the War Food Production Agency.

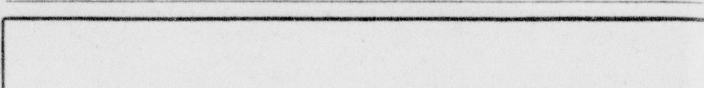

Let us look at our postwar productive capacity and its inevitable pressures to drive prices down and not up. In aircraft, ten times our peacetime market; millions of tons of merchants' shipping for which there will be no cargoes; steel capacity greater than the rest of the world; five million automobiles at a thousands dollars each and one million houses at five thousand dollars

Administration, biggest problem facing smokers today is "When can we expect some popular brands?" There is plenty of tobacco to make more cigarettes but manufacturers complain of labor shortages and lack of heavy cardboard shipping containers. Meanwhile, because the producers can not pay higher wages, their plant machines stand idle and the public continues to face the biggest cigarette shortage in history.

Trade sources assert that until the manpower situation is eased, the nation-wide pinch on smokes will continue—despite well-stocked bago warehouses and the desire of the manufacturers to boost production.

Some women smokers are changing over to small briar pipes in their nicotine diversion while others are "rolling their own." And cigarettes, which retail normally from fourteen to eighteen cents a pack are bringing high premiums in the black market channels. Chicago reports show them selling for seventy-five cents with like prices prevailing in black markets in many other cities.

THESE ARE THE BENEFACTORS

★ One of the greatest accomplishments of civilization has been the remarkable progress made in increasing the average life expectancy. In the Middle Ages the average life span was twenty years. In the seventeenth century it had advanced to twenty-five years. Through the years there has been a steady increase until, today, the life expectancy is sixty-three years for men and sixty-six for women.

Authorities agree that the most productive years of life lie between the ages of forty and sixty. Medicine and the allied sciences have thus been indirectly responsible for all progress. Good minds that had sickened and died before reaching their zenith now live to apply the judgment and experience of maturity. As pharmacists, we are proud of our function in the distribution of lifesaving medical supplies.

Democrats Spend $4,547 in County In Recent Election

$4,582 in Contributions Reported by Treasurer in Statement

Contributions of $4,582.20 and expenditures of $4,547.14 in behalf of Democratic candidates in the November 7 general election were reported in the statement of contributions and expenditures filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of circuit court by John J. McMullen, treasurer of the Democratic State Central Committee for Allegheny county.

The statement revealed that the greatest expenditure, $1,754.13, was credited to office expenses, including $468.52 paid to radio station WJBO and $321.50 for the office payroll.

One hundred and forty-one persons were paid $10 each, or a total of $1,410, for the use of automobiles, and 261 persons received a total of $1,383.01 for messenger service, according to the statement.

State's Organization Gives $2,000 Of the $4,582.20 in contributions, the largest was $1,750 credited to Howard E. Cook, treasurer of the state organization. Cook, as treasurer, also was listed as giving an additional $250.

The largest local contributor, according to the statement, was Daniel F. McMullen, listed as giving $275. Other larger contributors were T. E. Stakem, $250; William C. Walsh, $250; treasurer of the Democratic Cosmopolitan club, $230; John J. McMullen, $100; D. J. Lewis, $100; O. H. Bruce, $75, and F. A. Perdue, $75.

Fifty dollar contributions were reported from James F. McGuire, J. Frank Quinn, Lomaconing; W. E. Ruehl, James C. Shriver, Elizabeth R. Menefee, J. E. Kenney, and F. A. Pudebaugh. Quinn was listed twice as giving $50.

Special Contributions Special contributions of $530 were reported to the Democratic National Committee, according to the account which carried a note that Truman B. Cash, state chairman, was paid $500 by check. Among these contributors were listed William C. Walsh, J. Shriver and the Cosmopolitan club, all credited with giving $50.

The statement revealed that there are no existing uncancelled obligations. There is a balance on hand of $65.06.

West Side Pupils Learning Spanish

Experiment for Selected Group in Third Grade Is Successful

A select group of pupils of the third grade at West Side school are learning to speak Spanish and after seven weeks of teaching by Mrs. Ila E. Gonzalez they are reported to be "doing nicely."

The idea was conceived by Mrs. Dorothy B. Bastian, mother of one of the pupils, who has traveled extensively, and was suggested to Charles L. Kopp, county superintendent, who, as reported to the language being taught the youngsters on an experimental basis.

While it is not included in the elementary school's curriculum, conversational Spanish is a special activity for the more advanced pupils of the class who devote two half-hour periods a week to the study. The teacher is paid by parents of the children.

Spanish is reported to be an easy language to learn and the fourteen children who are taking it have shown much interest in the special activity even though it yields no credits.

French and Spanish are taught in many private schools and Spanish is now included in the curriculum of Los Angeles public schools from the first to twelfth grades.

The experiment here is recognized as a most progressive step in education and there is a possibility that conversational Spanish will be in greater demand in the elementary schools during the postwar period due to the increased travel of Americans in foreign countries.

was "to expose false propaganda and give the country the facts with reference to tobacco stocks." He will decide later whether to call in cigarette makers and distributors.

Rep. Chapman (D-Ky.) told the House committee this year's crop will be "the largest in the history of the industry—and will be available to (cigarette) manufacturers before there is any likelihood of exhausting the existing aged stocks."

"Then what is the trouble?" asked Rep. Zimmerman (D-Mo.). "I don't know," Chapman replied, "all I know is that the tobacco growers are not guilty."

He was only one of several witnesses who said they had no idea what is causing the shortage of cigarettes here at home and on the fighting fronts.

George E. Powell, an official of the Commodity Credit Corporation who gave the committee columns of figures on tobacco production and exports came closest to giving an answer to the question of why there is a shortage.

"It probably is due to a number of factors," he said, emphasizing that this is a personal opinion.

Littell Accuses

classified as mere differences of opinion on matters of policy." Littell is also reported to have informed the committee that because he lacked confidence in Biddle, he (Littell) considered it his "public duty" to refuse to comply with Biddle's request that he resign.

Explaining why he lacked confidence in Biddle, Littell's memorandum said:

Biddle, after conferences with Corcoran, tried to get Littell to settle the Savannah Shipyards Company case involving condemnation procedures filed by the Justice department at the request of the Maritime Commission. Corcoran, as private attorney, was interested in the case.

Littell said Biddle and his former assistant, James Rowe, repeatedly talked to him about settlement of the case following conferences they had with Corcoran.

Littell, it is reported, refused to consent to settlement of the shipyard case on any but the government's terms which were considerably below the settlement figure of the firm's representatives.

Other Claims Listed

(1.) Upon his promotion to the attorney generalship, Biddle sought to have Corcoran appointed solicitor general, the post Biddle had just vacated, and at another time was interested in having Corcoran's brother promoted to the United States district attorney of New York city, that position was vacated.

(2.) Biddle was displeased at publicity given cancellation of the navy Standard Oil contract for operation of the Elk Hills naval petroleum reserve and Littell's analysis of the contract before the House Public Lands committee.

(3.) The Justice department copies of Littell's report on the Elk Hills contract before giving it to a House committee which was investigating the case.

(4.) Following Littell's testimony before the Senate War Investigating committee on handling of surplus government lands he was rebuked by the attorney general for giving the group information.

approximately $19,248,000,000 in personal savings. "The Victorians," Bracken observed, "were proud to be called a nation of shopkeepers, but they never have been such shopkeepers as the British. No shopkeepers ever before sold out their entire stocks in order to fight."

Bracken said that Britain's large gold reserves in the United States at the beginning of the war "have all been paid over and the money spent in building up American munitions industries."

"This expenditure," he added, "helped America come into the war with her industries already on some thing of a wartime footing. We are glad to have rendered this service to the United States as a small return for her tremendous generosity to us."

4,500,000 Men in Services

Britain's armed forces now number 4,500,000 men and 500,000 women. The number of persons in her munitions industries rose from 3,000,000 in 1939 to 5,000,000 in 1944. Britain's total population is about 47,000,000.

Citing these figures, Bracken declared that "one tremendous fact stood out clearly—that the total war effort of the population of Great Britain is greater than that of any other belligerent."

"We have not attempted to mule the British Empire," he continued. "Canada is the only Empire country from which we have received reverse lend lease."

Free World Press Is Aim of Editors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors pledged itself today to "campaign until freedom of information becomes a living reality everywhere in the world."

To discuss these purposes and spread word of them abroad, President John S. Knight of the Knight newspapers was authorized to name a committee to visit various world capitals.

Through its board of directors in session here, the ASNE went on record for "the removal of all political, economic and military barriers to the freedom of world information," after the war. Such freedom everywhere, this pronouncement of policy said, is vital to enduring peace.

The policy declaration invited reciprocal statements by the United States Government and all other governments, press, radio and other media of information, embracing "the right of the people to read and hear news without hindrance."

An individual plane in maintaining schedule it turns around and stays out of the pattern so that the split second timing of the pattern will not be tangled up. In this type of flying each craft is virtually on its own.

"Never before," said Lt. Donald L. White, 405 Beall street, Cumberland, a bombardier, "has the success of a raid depended so much on the accuracy of my computations alone."

Lt. Murray G. Stone, a pilot, from Salt Lake City, Utah, said this feeling of "being on your own" gave the crews a new "self-confidence."

"Yeah," said Navigator Lt. Richard Van Heusen, Sandston, Va., "I like this way much better."

Lt. James F. Ruch, former West Virginia basketball player from 517 South Front street, Wheeling, a navigator, said the "boys were disappointed because our target was the Munich rail yards and not the beer hall."

Lt. White, 25, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. White, 405 Beall street. A former student at Allegheny high school, he was employed at the Celanese plant for four years prior to enlisting in the army July 18, 1941.

After being commissioned a second lieutenant in the army air forces September 16, 1942, at Miami, Fla., Lt. White was sent to Santa Ana, Calif., for further training. He attended gunnery school at Las Vegas, Nev., and received his bombardier wings at Carlisle, N. M., last March 18. After further training as a navigator he went overseas to Italy last August.

According to a letter which Lt. White's parents received from him two weeks ago, he has completed a Flying Fortress as bombardier of a Liberator bomber with the Fifteenth air force.

Three brothers are also in the service. Second Lt. Allan V. White, who was commissioned last April 8 at Big Springs, Tex., is bombardier of a Flying Fortress based in England. He went overseas early last August. Pvt. Marshall E. White, who entered the army last February 9, is stationed at Camp Hood, Tex., with a tank destroyer unit.

The third brother, Pvt. Ernest J. White, arrived home on furlough November 21 from Fresno, Calif., where he is stationed with the signal corps. Pvt. White is visiting his wife, Mrs. Mildred Leasure White, Decatur street. He will return to California December 7.

Frostburg Youth Held On Car Theft Charge

Joseph Powell, 17, Frostburg, was arrested by State Trooper Blair J. Buckel yesterday in connection with the theft Sunday of an automobile owned by Mack Perree, Frostburg, and is held in the county jail on a charge of unauthorized use of an automobile.

The machine later was found wrecked from a twenty-foot drop down an embankment on Huckleberry lane, near Shaft. Buckel said the youth has admitted the theft.

90,000 Workers Needed In Munitions Plants

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—Ninety thousand workers are needed immediately in plants making the most urgent munitions items, War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt reported today.

Coining words to emphasize the shortage, McNutt designated the manpower requirement in seventeen "topmost" programs as "super-critical."

The overall labor deficit is 200,000, including less urgent war plants, McNutt reported after a WMC survey, plus about 63,000 needed in the small arms ammunition program announced after the survey was made.

New Unemployment

O'Connor reported that he decided to recommend changes in the state law after consulting with Maryland Unemployment Compensation officials and with experts in different parts of the country.

The state unemployment compensation board — Russell Davis, chairman, Joseph R. McCurdy, and Ambrose J. Kennedy — approved the proposed changes, the governor said.

Also in favor are members of the state advisory council on unemployment matters — Joseph P. Healy and Stewart J. Cort, employer representatives; Ralph C. Beard and Robert J. Buxbaum, employee representatives; and Lew L. Dopkin and H. Findley French, public representatives.

The governor has in the past expressed the opinion that if the states provide adequate benefits for workers forced out of jobs, the need for federalization of state systems would be lessened. O'Connor played a leading role in opposing the efforts to federalize the compensation systems and appeared before congressional committees to urge the present system of state responsibility be continued.

After adoption of amendments sponsored by the O'Connor administration in the 1941 and 1943 legislative sessions, the Maryland system was declared among the most favorable in the country to employed persons.

Canadian Draftees

Ister W. L. MacKenzie King battled here on Parliament Hill to save the life of his government after warning in a three-hour address yesterday that "anarchy" faced the country unless it could get together in "reasonable" unity on the conscription issue.

King was in the peculiar position of facing defeat by a combination of votes from two extreme opposite quarters — those who oppose any form of conscription for overseas duty, and those who feel the government's partial conscription policy of ordering only an initial 16,000 aboard does not go far enough.

The opposition to any type of overseas conscription comes entirely from the French-speaking province of Quebec, which normally provides some sixty votes for King's Liberal government.

Increases Granted Long Distance Phone Operators

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—The Labor board announced tonight its approval of $2 weekly pay increases for long distance telephone operators employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph company at Louisville and Memphis.

At the same time, the board made public a WLB panel's recommendation for a $5 weekly increase for 5,800 long distance operators at New York City and an additional $1 weekly for the 475 Louisville and 430 Memphis operators. The company estimated the increases, if granted, would advance operating expenses by approximately $1,500,000.

plain, and strengthening their northern flank after widening the Saverne — Straßburg corridor to twenty miles.

From north to south, the continuing heavy offensive against the Reich brought these developments: The Ninth army completed capture of Kirchberg on the west bank of the flooded Roer less than a mile from Julich, which is on the east bank. They also took Barmen, north of Julich, and Altdorf on the south. Kösler and Merzenhausen were being cleaned out despite fierce German tank counterattacks.

German Battalion Captured

The doughboys in Kirchberg and Barmen had to wade through knee-deep water from the flooded Roer. They captured an entire German battalion and its headquarters in the outskirts of Merzenhausen. American artillery virtually wiped out another entire German battalion which tried to counterattack in the early morning morning.

The fighting was along and on both sides of one of Hitler's superhighways leading almost due east to Cologne, twenty-four airline miles distant.

A half-dozen miles south, the United States First Army doughboys pushed east astride another of the Nazis' prized motor roads, fighting their way into Jüngerdtorf, only four miles from Düren, in a three-pronged assault that carried another mile and a quarter into the Roer river defenses where the Germans are making an all-out stand.

First army troops also slugged into Inden on the Inde river three miles from the Roer and midway between Düren and Julich. They were closing in on Lamersdorf, on the Inde between Inden and newly-captured Frenz.

In Hurtgen forest southwest of Düren the Yanks were fighting bitterly to oust the Germans from positions in the bomb-rubbed remains of the town of Hurtgen, two-thirds of which was in American hands. North of Hurtgen American artillery continued methodically to soften the enemy defenders of Grosshaut.

All these stern battles were not to be measured in terms of miles or yards gained, and Gen. Eisenhower's aim was to destroy the German army, which has elected to fight it out west of the Rhine river.

Third Army Advances

The Third army, however, continued to score notable advances. Its Ninety-fifth division plunged over the German border from the vicinity of Villigen in a two-mile advance that carried a mile into Germany and three and one-half miles from Saarlautern.

penetration, south of the previous Third army invasions of German soil, gave Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's men, a twenty-six-mile front inside the Reich and control of something more than forty square miles of German territory.

Farther southeast on the Third army front the Eightieth division boosted its gains to seven miles in a day by pushing beyond Farsen-willer, and reaching within about eight miles from the German stronghold of Saarbrücken.

Still farther down the front, the Fourth armored division extended its bridgehead across the Saar river another two miles northward and sent reconnaissance units into Sarrewerden, one and one-half miles south of the city of Sarre union. In that same sector on the Third army's southern flank the Twenty-sixth infantry division had virtually cleared the Bois De Fontaine and enveloped Wolfskirchen.

Origin of Fire At Pinto Plant Is Undetermined

Officials of the Allegheny Ballistics Laboratory said last night they had not yet determined the origin or estimated the damage caused by a fire that early yesterday morning ruined the interior of the plant's machine shop near Pinto.

A plant guard discovered the blaze about 3:15 a. m. yesterday and at that time flames already were shooting through the roof of the building.

The plant fire department and the volunteer companies of LaVale and Cresaptown were the first to arrive on the scene. West Side firemen were summoned at 3:50 a. m. and when they arrived the roof already had collapsed and the interior was badly damaged.

Five lines of hose were used to combat the blaze and prevent the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings. Plant officials credited the prompt response of volunteer companies and the Cumberland department with confining the blaze to the machine shop building.

Only the walls of the recently-built concrete block structure, 150 feet in length by about fifty feet wide, were left standing when the flames finally were extinguished after a battle of more than two hours.

Most of the roof of the building was burned away, according to plant officials, but although operations will be hindered work of the laboratory will be continued. Repairs already have been started.

Investigation of the cause of the fire is being continued. Second shift workers left the building a little more than an hour before the flames were discovered.

"HELLCAT's the Name for It!"

Maybe you've seen some of those GI's with Tank Destroyer emblems on their shoulders. They're a great bunch of guys — proud of their service — and for months they've been itching for the day when the hush-hush lid would be lifted so they could tell the world what it's all about.

We know how they've felt — for they've been training with Buick's baby — the M-18 Hellcat — dreamed up, developed and brought to production by Buick men, with the enthusiastic aid of Ordnance experts.

Then came the big day. The Hellcat went into action, with its 55-mile top speed and its heavy-slugging 76-mm. cannon.

Fresh from the fighting front, an official Army observer called it "the hottest thing in armored warfare," which was grand news to our ears.

But what really warmed our hearts was the flood of letters — thousands of them — which poured in from the men who've worked and trained and lived with this destroyer, once they learned that Buick builds the Hellcat.

Buick powers the Liberator, too. And our mail has been heavy with letters from flyers, telling us how much faith they've come to feel in those great-powered, Buick-built, valve-in-head aircraft engines.

So pardon us, please, if we feel a bit proud about the way these boys write us. Such cheers as theirs are the finest reward anyone could ask or hope for.

Group Recreation Is Discussed By Harry Odgers

Recreation is a matter of group concern rather than individual concern Harry Odgers told members of the Business and Professional Women's club at the dinner-meeting last evening at the Central YMCA. The speaker pointed out various instances, like health, that were once an individual problem, but now is preserved in groups. He also brought out the fact that if the thirty-hour week, sponsored by the AP of L becomes a reality, the question of what people will do with their free time must be considered.

Mr. Odgers, a member of the faculty of Beall high school, Frostburg, was director of recreation activities in various West Virginia towns while he was superintendent of public schools, and principal of high schools there. He was introduced by Dr. Emily Baker, member of the faculty of Frostburg State Teachers college, and program chairman.

Plans for the Christmas party were formulated at the business session and the date for the next of the series of benefit parties was announced. The Christmas party will be held December 12 at the Y, following the dinner-meeting. It was also decided to hold the final two parties of the series before the first of the year.

Ten members also volunteered to fill slots for the Red Cross to distribute to servicemen for Christmas.

Illustrated Talk Features Program Of Church Circle

An illustrated talk on "Art in Religion," by Miss Chloris Benson featured the program of the Livingstone-Cornell Church of the First Presbyterian church, Monday evening in the lecture hall. Showing photographs from the Metropolitan museum, of paintings of mosaics in Italian cathedrals, Miss Benson stressed the symbols as used in the church from the first century through the Renaissance. She discussed the difference between the art of the early days, which, "with the use of symbols were more conventional than later art which was more photographic with a combination of many ideas."

Miss Benson showed the symbols illustrating the Holy Trinity, as well as the grape vine, the lily, and peacock, the symbol of eternity. She also explained the use of the various colors in the church ceremonies; as well as the different types of crosses. The speaker explained that the "budding cross," means, "growing like Christ," the Papal cross has three bars and the Patriarchal cross, which has two bars on the upright wood.

Plans for the Christmas party which will be held following the dinner-meeting at 5:30 o'clock December 11, were discussed. It was voted to have the Port Hill a cappella choir, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Schreyer, as the featured entertainment. Miss Nan Livingston appointed Miss Margaret Hamilton, Miss Marie Ingles and Miss Margaret Ingles the committee on decorations.

Mrs. Jessie Cross Stanley, a recent bride and member of the circle, was presented with a gift. Mrs. Ruth Ludman directed group singing. Miss Janet Anderson led the devotional service.

Yuletide Greetings For Our Fighters

CHRISTMAS CARDS still can be mailed overseas, up to December 15, provided they are sent by first-class mail and thus assured of forwarding privileges, according to Stephen Q. Shannon, director of the greeting card industry. He reveals the interesting information that in November, 1943, the volume of Yuletide Christmas cards coming into the country from the boys overseas exceeded outgoing cards, and that this seems to have been the case again this year.

"Even though the service men are not able to buy the usual cards, they make up cards of their own," Mr. Shannon said. "The army has fostered contests among men at the front and the winning designs are used." This shows how much Christmas remembrances mean to those in the services away from home at Christmas time. Amazing results shown in improving the Looks... boosting VITALITY!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

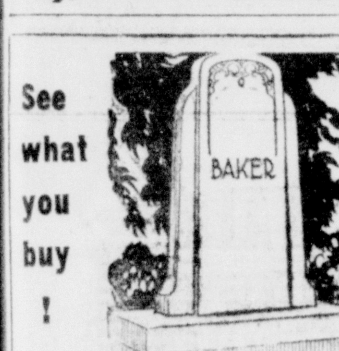

Improper diet, overwork, undue worry, colds, the flu or other illness often impairs the stomach's digestive functions and reduces the red-blood strength.

A person who is operating on only a 75% healthy blood volume or stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. At such times Nature needs extra help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system. Insufficient blood strength is a detriment to good health.

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need. SSS Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat—to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

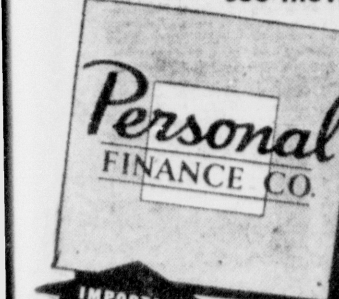

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. © S.S. Co.

Political Interest Now Centered On Recent Canadian Cabinet Crisis

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 28 — Whereas the political situation in this country has been settled for the next few years by the recent elections, the Canadian political pot appears to be at the boiling point.

The most recent crisis, which brought Parliament into special session at Ottawa, revolves about the MacKenzie King Government's policy of refusing to send Canadian Army draftees out of the country unless they volunteer to go.

It was his policy, deserted only in the face of a cabinet crisis, which brought on the present critical developments in Canadian politics.

Observers in this country interested in Canadian politics have long been casting questioning glances at the political picture in Canada, since a general election almost certainly means portentous party realignments.

This is because of the rise of a new party in Canada since the last general elections in 1940. The new party, with distinct Socialistic leanings, is the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation, which in June of this year swept forty-seven out of fifty-two contested seats in the Saskatchewan province elections.

The C.C.F. has taken a substantial part of its support throughout the Dominion from the Liberal party. In a survey conducted right on the heels of the Ralston resignation, the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, which successfully predicted the outcome of the 1942 plebiscite, finds the Liberal party far weaker than it was in 1940, the C.C.F. far stronger.

BY PARTIES

	Liberals	Progressive Conservatives	C.C.F.	Others
1940	55%	31%	8%	6%
Jan., '42	55	30	10	5
Feb., '43	52	27	23	18
Sept., '43	28	28	29	15
Mar., '44	34	30	22	14
TODAY	36	28	23	13

Although the C.C.F. has lost strength since September, 1943, Canada nevertheless, appears to have a new and powerful political party which may spell profound changes in the next general election.

It should be pointed out that the life of the present Canadian government expires under the constitution on April 17, 1945, and that a new general election must be held before that date.

Celanese Needs Water To Expand

If the local plant of the Celanese Corporation of America is to undergo "normal expansion," it must be guaranteed a minimum of 3,500,000 gallons of water daily, Charles Z. Hesket, city attorney, told the mayor and council Monday.

Hesket said directors of the company have discussed the problem and will soon ask the city for a decision. In explaining, the attorney said he did not want to create the impression that the Celanese will do all of its expanding in Cumberland. He said that unless a minimum of water can be guaranteed, operations here may move backward.

The attorney said company officials realize there may be times when sufficient water may not be in Lakes Gordon and Koon, but that these occasions will be few and the concern is willing to gamble on the rainfall.

"We have the water. It is just a question of getting it to the plant," Hesket said. "We couldn't get a permit for a second water line from Lake Gordon to the city now even if we were ready to go ahead."

Currently, the Celanese is using about 3,500,000 gallons of water daily. During the summer, because of the great demand in the city, the plant was cut to about 2,000,000 gallons. For a short period, operations were curtailed due to the condition of Potomac river water and the lack of city water.

William J. Edwards, water commissioner, said he would take the problem up with Charles J. Bruce, waterworks superintendent, and other members of the council also promised consideration.

Thousands of Yule Seals Mailed; Early Returns Reported

The annual sale of Christmas seals to combat tuberculosis was launched Monday in Allegany county and thousands of persons received seals in the mail.

William J. Edwards, chairman, said that the first return of the 1944 campaign was received from Joseph K. Trenton, and approximately twenty-five persons had made returns by 5 p. m. yesterday.

Each envelope contains one dollar's worth of seals and accompanying the seals is a return envelope directed to the county association.

Those who have not been contacted by mail may purchase their seals at Edwards' office in the water department, city hall.

Men Sought for Jobs On West Coast, Alaska And Hawaii Navy Yards

Carl B. Swanson, representative of the United States Navy, will be at the Cumberland office of the United States Employment Service, Public Safety Building, for an indefinite period, to recruit skilled and semi-skilled help for work at navy yards on the Pacific coast, Pearl Harbor and Alaska.

"There's a critical need for machinists, electricians, shipfitters, shipwrights and helpers at Hunter's Point naval dry dock, San Francisco; Mare Island, Vallejo, Calif.; Puget Sound naval yard, Bremerton, Wash.; and also in Alaska and Hawaii," Swanson said.

He added that wages are good, housing is assured and free transportation is provided to the coast. Pearl Harbor and Alaska.

Thousands of additional workers are needed immediately due to the increased operations by the United States Navy in the Pacific war theater.

Cruisers, submarines, destroyers and battleships put in at the navy yards mentioned for repairs after engaging in battle with the enemy, Swanson said.

Police Boys' Class Will Be Guests of Moose At Dinner Tonight

A father-and-son dinner for members of the Police Boys' Bible class will be held at 6:30 p. m. today at the Moose home, 100 Beall street, by Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose. Approximately 150 persons are expected to attend.

Arrangements for the dinner are in charge of Frank Davis, governor of the local lodge, assisted by David Steele, Harold E. Hixson, Edgar H. Bender and Charles Wiebel, members of the Duke Memorial Bible class committee.

Also attending the dinner will be Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney; Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, and representatives of the Police Boys' club, the Central YMCA and the Duke Memorial Bible class.

TEST BONUS CASE IS POSTPONED UNTIL DECEMBER

The test case on the bonus payments to the mayor and council, scheduled for hearing in circuit court Thursday, has been postponed and will probably come up early in December, attorneys said Monday.

Action, contending that the mayor and council are not "general employees" of the city, for whom the ten per cent bonus to be paid during the war and for six months after, is intended, was filed by Simon Mock, a taxpayer. Estate of Kelly is attorney for Mock, who is understood to have allowed the use of his name in the test case sought by Mayor Thomas S. Post.

The act was passed last year by the general assembly in order that employees could meet the rising cost of living. City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett asserted that the mayor and council are not "casual employees" and are entitled to the bonus. He cited that Mock pays $120 in city taxes a year and therefore his interest is practically nil. Mock asks that payments received by the mayor and council be returned.

Mayor Post and Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich contend that they are not entitled to the bonus. Action was docketed May 13 and Heskett filed an answer June 3.

Frostburg Plans Scrap Paper Drive Saturday, Dec. 2

Salisbury and Mt. Savage Will Collect Paper on Same Day

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Nov. 28—Frostburg salvage officials announced today that the next scrap paper drive will be held Saturday, December 2.

The necessary trucks will be collected on the same day and will combine their collections with the Frostburg group for rail shipment.

The Frostburg collection will be made by the Frostburg Boy Scouts and Cubs, assisted by parents and neighbors. The necessary trucks will be collected on the same day and will combine their collections with the Frostburg group for rail shipment.

The need for waste paper to supplement available supplies of pulp wood has been made more acute by the heavier fighting in Europe, according to a salvage official. The amount of supply going overseas is enormous, and more and more of it is being packed in paper containers. Many of the heavy calibre shells are packed in individual cartons to protect them during shipment.

The waste paper collected in the Frostburg district will be shipped to the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company's mills at Luke and Covington, Va. Both mills are producing special paper for important priority orders.

Frostburg salvage officials have asked that the magazines and newspapers be placed on the curb before 9 a. m. on the day of the drive. Cardboard and wrapping paper should be placed with the newspapers.

Rotarians Hear House

James H. House, vocational agricultural teacher of the Allegheny county board of education staff, speaking before the Frostburg Rotary club last evening, explained the aims of the Future Farmers of America in the school circles in the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company. The motto of the organization, he said, is "Learning to Do, Doing to Learn, Earning to Live and Living to Serve," and the primary aim is the development of agricultural leadership, co-operation and citizenship.

Prof. House is also co-ordinator of food production and training and that capacity, said that farm machinery repair courses were in operation in the public schools at Luke Grove, Oldtown, Flintstone, and Bedford. Total repair jobs completed in the school circles in the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, he said, were as follows: machinery, 1766; welding, 1965; forge work, 1887; cold chisel, 1535; tool fitting, 1315; soldering, 458 and miscellaneous jobs, 970, making a total of 8986 jobs completed at the combined schools.

He also reported that 25,353 pounds of food had been processed at the training centers operated under direction of the board of education at Luke Grove, Eckhart and Midland.

Prof. House, a graduate of Frostburg State Teachers college, with the class of 1927, outlined the graduation exercises of interest in agricultural work in recent years.

Report Fund Gains

The Frostburg collection for the Allegheny County War Fund drive has given a substantial boost today to the collection of three local organizations.

Frostburg Lodge No. 348, Loyal Order of Moose, donated $300, and donations of $200 each were given by the council and Frostburg Council No. 1442, Knights of Columbus.

The advanced gifts soliciting campaign, consisting of Thomas Elias and Charles N. Hill, turned in cash amounting to $240, making a total of $1000 officially reported for the day.

In addition to these amounts, the advanced gifts soliciting campaign has received several hundred dollars which will be turned in after their work is completed.

The soliciting campaign is progressing in a satisfactory manner, according to Michael J. Byrnes, Jr., chairman, but it has been suggested that reports be made promptly to Miss Mary Evans at the Gunter hotel to enable her to complete the campaign in time to report them to Cumberland headquarters on the specified date.

Household Furniture including Electrolux and Gas Range. Call Friday or Saturday at 31 Uhl Street, Frostburg.

FRANK R. PERRY, Los Angeles inventor and former motor research expert, fills up a wonder car of his own invention which uses no carburetor, spark plugs, clutch, gear box, starter, and—no gas. A secret vaporized liquid and compressed air makes it run, and the Perry's simply shaking it up the air pressure instead of the gas it gains speed up to seventy miles an hour. Perry asserts that one can of the fluid, such as shown above, will power the car for more than 1,500 miles.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you unhappy, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and disasters. Frequent or smarting passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Mother and Child Die of Burns

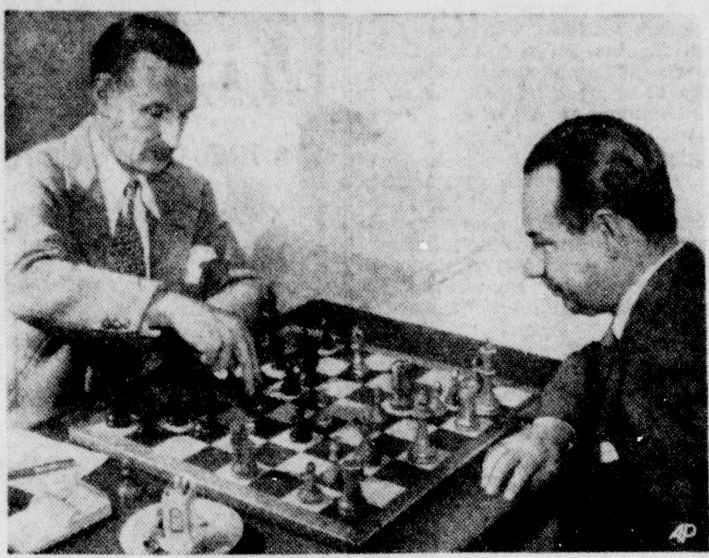

BALTIMORE, Nov. 28 (AP) — A 22-year-old negro mother and her daughter, 6, were fatally burned today in a fire which trapped them in their bedrooms on the third floor of their home. A second daughter was in a serious condition at the University hospital.

Rescued by firemen who raised ladders to the third floor windows, only to die later in hospitals, were Mrs. Margaret Genereette and Margie Mae Genereette. The other daughter is Carrie Mae, 4, also carried to safety by firemen.

Two other occupants of the home, Mrs. Viola Phillips and her son, Walter, 2, were treated for shock and burns and then released.

The recovery of copper from old tin cans now accounts for about ten per cent of the total United States copper production.

Catgut Chess, by Mail

LONG-HAIRED GAMBIT—William Primrose, concert violinist, deliberates a move against his chess opponent, Zino Francescatti, violinist. Both are now on tour but continue their rivalry by mail between musical appearances.

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK — A long distance chess game to end all such contests is under way this winter between two famous virtuosi, both on tour. They do it by correspondence.

One is Zino Francescatti the violinist, the other, William Primrose, the violinist. Right now they are engaged in two "white games," as a season's opener.

These two gentlemen are "tour-bound." That is, from fall through spring they practically never see each other, or the chess boards at the Lotos Club, where their unending feud started. Now each sends his moves to Miss Doris Jarmel, at Columbia Concerts, who in turn forwards them to the waiting antagonist.

"I've heard," says she, "of chess games being carried on at a distance, but usually the people were more or less stationary."

"I'm going slowly mad with this. A letter arrives from Bangor with Francescatti's latest move. I hurriedly consult the tour list, and forward it to Primrose in New Orleans. But before it can reach New Orleans, Primrose has gone on to Los Angeles.

"You see how confusing it can be," says Miss Jarmel, "especially to me. I don't know a bishop from an inkwell."

Primrose studied last summer with Herman Steiner at the Hollywood Chess Club, where Humphrey Bogart and Josef Sternberg, among others, were habitués. Francescatti learned the hard way, from his father, Francescatti, Pere, who was not only a musician, like his son, he was an amateur chess champion.

Chess appears to be the favorite two-man game with many musicians. In the Philharmonic-Symphony's clubroom in Carnegie Hall chess games are kept set up from beginning to end of every season. Games have been known to start at Christmas and end at Easter, and many a man has pondered longer over one move than it takes to play the Shostakovich Seventh symphony.

Nazi Forces Are Retreating from Alsace Salient

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

An ominous Allied northward drive out of the fast expanding bulge on the upper Rhine at Strasbourg is taking shape.

Berlin admits that Nazi forces are in flight from all Northeastern Alsace. They are protected by rear-guards; but have no formidable river line like the Saar or the Rhine behind which to rally at the German-French frontier.

The absence of a strong water barrier makes that sector of the Franco-German border on the north face of the Alsace salient between the Rhine and the Saar more vulnerable than any other on the front. Only the wide and deep Pfalz-zerwald forest area in the center offers a natural defensive terrain.

It is against this weak link on the southern flank of the German west Rhineland that General Patton's Third army is swinging with Seventh army support.

Berlin commentators stress the prediction that the Nazi retreat will continue beyond the frontier itself until it reaches the fortifications of the Siegfried line perhaps ten miles back. Their purpose may be to prepare the Nazi home front for the widest and deepest Allied penetration of German soil.

There are indications that the stubborn held Nazi bridgehead west of the Rhine close to Basel probably has been eliminated and with it the last threat to communications of the French forces which burst through the Belfort Gap to take Mulhouse. If that is true, early clearance of the Southern Vosges of the last Nazi invaders is to be expected, freeing the American Seventh army and the French First Army to aid the Third in a breakthrough into the Saar basin area from the south.

The threat is mounting so swiftly that the Nazi command in the west cannot long ignore it to concentrate reserves on defense of the Roer.

Fronts to the north. A deep Allied penetration of the Saar basin would virtually split the west front in two and jeopardize the Nazi stand west of the Rhine to the north almost as much as would an enemy collapse on the Roer, the Meuse, or anywhere else except on the dormant Neder Rhine segment in Holland.

"CANARY" DOUGLAS SPREADS WINGS FOR CAPITAL STAGE

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHICAGO—A small, smiling lady who once played the canary in "The Cat and the Canary" has booked a new appearance—this time in Congress.

She's Emily Taft Douglas, the newly-elected Congresswoman-at-large for Illinois.

An attractive, earnest woman, she had abandoned things theatrical long before she scored a smash hit on the 1944 political stage with a performance that involved several highlights.

In her first bid for public elective office she gathered almost as many Illinois votes as "the champ"—2,076,000 for President Roosevelt; 2,021,000 for her. And her winning margin was larger—140,000 for the chief executive; 200,000 for her.

She was chosen by the electorate of the whole state, the same as a United States Senator, and will represent the entire state. Thus, she will carry the distinction—and have the distraction—of serving more constituents (7,600,000 Illinoisans) than any other of the eight women lawmakers in Washington.

A Balcony Scene
The idea to enter the campaign was conceived while she and her husband, Paul, were listening to Benito Mussolini speak from a balcony in Rome. The Italians were invading Ethiopia at the time.

Mrs. Douglas says, "We realized then that the right-thinking countries of the world had to unite to crack down on totalitarian fanatics."

Mrs. Douglas—daughter of the great sculptor, Lorado Taft—will bring to the national capital a record of accomplishment in varied fields. She breezed through the University of Chicago in three years, received her diploma in 1931, and went trouping.

For three years she rode about the one-night stand circuits on such sketches as "Emperor Jones," "The Return of Peter Grimm," and "The Cat and the Canary." She appeared in the canary character on the road and during the windup of the play's Broadway run.

When the thrill of seeing her still pictures in front of show houses wore off, she came back to Chicago, met and married Paul Douglas, University of Chicago economist.

A Liberal Husband
Douglas, a big, frank-talking exponent of honest political liberalism, held an alderman's post for a spell; and then took out after the politicians he deemed isolationists. He sought a Senate seat in 1942, lost, joined the Marines as a buck private and ladder up to a captain's rank.

Rev. L. H. Burns, Morgantown, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with friends in Keyser.

Boyd Oes, with the navy, Washington, was home Sunday.

Harry E. Chapman who has completed his training at the naval training station, Norman, Okla., has been assigned to duty at the naval station, Quonset, R. I. His rank is seaman first class.

Lt. Neil Shobe is spending some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shobe, Moxelle street, Tech-Sgt. Leonard, Tasker, is home on a twenty-one-day furlough. He recently returned to this country after serving three years in India.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tasker, West Piedmont street. Sgt. William L. Zais, McCoolle, was wounded in action in France November 11.

Word from the War department received by his mother, Mrs. Hattie L. Zais, Phil Jordan who is stationed with the navy at Norfolk, is home on leave.

The exact amount of banana imports in 1943 was withheld as a war secret by the United States government.

Douglas coached and encouraged her by mail. He withheld word that he had been wounded slightly until the ballots were cast.

He wanted, two years ago, to go to Washington.

Now she's going to realize his ambition.

EMILY T. DOUGLAS
... If Duce Set Her Off ...

While Douglas—at 53—was at the front, his wife, 44, and the mother of an 11-year-old daughter, Jean, decided to take up his cudgels.

Her toll was rewarded by her decisive triumph over the two-term veteran, Stephen A. Day, a Republican who inveighed against a global "super-state."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up night after night, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your Druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Mother and Child Die of Burns

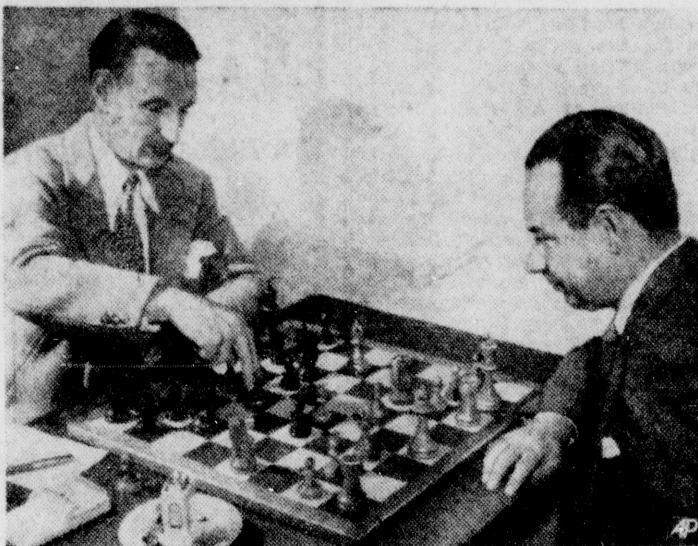

BALTIMORE, Nov. 28 (AP)—A 22-year-old negro mother and her daughter, 6, were fatally burned today in a fire which trapped them in their bedrooms on the third floor of their home. A second daughter was in a serious condition at the University hospital.

Rescued by firemen who raised ladders to the third floor windows, only to die later in hospitals, were Mrs. Margaret Genereette and Margie Mae Genereette. The other daughter is Carrie Mae, 4, also carried to safety by firemen.

Two other occupants of the home, Mrs. Viola Phillips and her son, Walter, 2, were treated for shock and burns and then released.

Catgut Chess, by Mail

LONG-HAIRED GAMBIT—William Primrose, concert violinist, deliberates a move against his chess opponent, Zino Francescatti, violinist. Both are now on tour but continue their rivalry by mail between musical appearances.

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK — A long distance chess game to end all such contests is under way this winter between two famous virtuosi, both on tour. They do it by correspondence.

One is Zino Francescatti the violinist; the other, William Primrose, the violinist. Right now they are engaged in a "white game," as a season's opener.

These two gentlemen are "four-bound." That is, from fall through spring they practically never see each other, or the chess boards at the Lotos Club, where their unending feud started. Now each sends his moves to Miss Doris Jarmel, at Columbia Concerts, who in turn forwards them to the waiting antagonist.

"I've heard," says she, "of chess games being carried on at a distance, but usually the people were more or less stationary."

A letter arrives from Bangor with Francescatti's latest move. I hurriedly consult the tour list, and forward it to Primrose in New Orleans. But before it can reach New Orleans, Primrose has gone on to Los Angeles.

"You see how confusing it can be," says Miss Jarmel, "especially to me. I don't know a bishop from an inkwell."

Primrose studied last summer with Herman Steiner at the Hollywood Chess Club, where Humphrey Bogart and Josef Sternberg, among others, were habitués. Francescatti learned the hard way, from his father, Francescatti, Pere, who was not only a musician, like his son, he was an amateur chess champion.

Chess appears to be the favorite two-man game with many musicians. In the Philharmonic-Symphony's clubroom in Carnegie Hall chess games are kept set up from beginning to end of every season. Games have been known to start at Christmas and end at Easter, and many a man has pondered longer over one move than it takes to play the Shostakovich Seventh symphony.

Nazi Forces Are Retreating from Alsace Salient

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

An ominous Allied northward drive out of the fast expanding bulge on the upper Rhine at Strasbourg is taking shape.

Berlin admits that Nazi forces are in flight from all Northeastern Alsace. They are protected by rear-guard; but have no formidable river line like the Saar or the Rhine behind which to rally at the German-French frontier.

The absence of a strong water barrier makes that sector of the Franco-German border on the north face of the Alsace salient between the Rhine and the Saar more vulnerable than any other on the front. Only the wide and deep Pfalzwald forest area in the center offers a natural defensive terrain. It is against this weak link on the southern flank of the German west Rhineland that General Patton's Third army is swinging with Seventh army support.

Berlin commentators stress the prediction that the Nazi retreat will continue beyond the frontier itself until it reaches the fortifications of the Siegfried line perhaps ten miles back. Their purpose may be to prepare the Nazi home front for the widest and deepest Allied penetration of German soil.

There are indications that the stubborn Nazi bridgehead west of the Rhine close to Basel probably has been eliminated and with it the last threat to communications of the French forces which burst through the Belfort Gap to take Mulhouse. If that is true, early clearance of the Southern Vosges of the last Nazi invaders is to be expected, freeing the American Seventh army and the French First Army to aid the Third in a breakthrough into the Saar basin area from the south.

The threat is mounting so swiftly that the Nazi command in the west cannot long ignore it to concentrate reserves on defense of the Roer-Meuse fronts to the north. A deep Allied penetration of the Saar basin would virtually split the west front in two and jeopardize the Nazi stand west of the Rhine to the north almost as much as would an enemy collapse on the Roer, the Meuse, or anywhere else except on the dormant Neder Rhine segment in Holland.

"CANARY" DOUGLAS SPREADS WINGS FOR CAPITAL STAGE

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHICAGO—A small, smiling lady who once played the canary in "The Cat and the Canary" has booked a new appearance—this time in Congress.

She's Emily Taft Douglas, the newly-elected Congresswoman-at-large for Illinois.

An attractive, earnest woman, she had abandoned things theatrical long before she scored a smash hit on the 1944 political stage with a performance that involved several highlights.

In her first bid for public elective office she gathered almost as many Illinois votes as "the champ"—2,675,000 for President Roosevelt; 2,021,000 for her. And her winning margin was larger—140,000 for the chief executive; 200,000 for her.

She was chosen by the electorate of the whole state, the same as a United States Senator, and will represent the entire state. Thus, she will carry the distinction—and have the distraction—of serving more constituents (7,600,000 Illinoisans) than any other of the eight women lawmakers in Washington.

A Balcony Scene

The idea to enter the campaign was conceived while she and her husband, Paul, were listening to Benito Mussolini speak from a balcony in Rome. The Italians were invading Ethiopia at the time and Mrs. Douglas says, "We realized then that the right-thinking countries of the world had to unite to crack down on totalitarian fanatics."

Mrs. Douglas—daughter of the great sculptor, Lorado Taft—will bring to the national capital a record of accomplishment in varied fields. She breezed through the University of Chicago in three years, received her diploma in 1931, and went trouping.

For three years she rode about the one-night stand circuits on such vehicles as "Emperor Jones," "The Return of Peter Grimm" and "The Cat and the Canary." She appeared in the canary character on the road and during the windup of the play's Broadway run.

When the thrill of seeing her still pictures in front of show houses wore off, she came back to Chicago, met and married Paul Douglas, University of Chicago economist.

A Liberal Husband

Douglas, a big, frank-talking exponent of honest political liberalism, held an alderman's post for a spell; and then took out after the politicians he deemed isolationists. He sought a Senate seat in 1942, lost, joined the Marines as a buck private and laddered up to a captain's rank.

Rev. L. H. Burns, Morgantown, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with friends in Keyser.

Boyd Oes, with the navy, Washington, was home Sunday.

Harry E. Chapman who has completed his training at the naval training station, Norman, Okla., has been assigned to duty at the naval station, Quonset, R. I. His rank is seaman first class.

Lt. Neil Shobe is spending some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shobe, Moxley street.

Tech-Sgt. Leonard T. Baker is home on a twenty-one-day furlough. He recently returned to this country after serving three years in India.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tasker, West Piedmont street.

Sgt. William L. Zais, McCoolle, was wounded in action in France November 11, according to word from the War department received by his mother, Mrs. Hattie L. Zais.

Phil Jordan who is stationed with the navy at Norfolk, is home on leave.

Paw Paw Cagers Have New Coach

PAW PAW, W. Va., Nov. 28 — The Paw Paw High Mountaineers, coached by Tom "Duke" Parlette, will open their 1944-45 basketball season by entertaining the LaSalle High Explorers, of Cumberland, Md., December 7.

Parlette, a graduate of Paw Paw high, attended Shepherd college and played basketball with several local independent outfits, including the Paw Paw Tanners. He replaced John Marra as Mountaineer mentor.

Tutor Parlette is building his team around four lettermen. Forward Bobby Robertson, Guards James Cadigan and John Herman and Center Ivan Clark. The rest of the squad is inexperienced. Newcomers include Neil Taylor, Paul Zorich, Bobby Albright, William Crouse, Leroy Strothers, John Day and John Royce.

"Our team spirit is fine and the boys are working hard," Parlette reported, "but due to the number of newcomers, we don't expect to reach our peak until midseason."

15 Teams Enter 'Y' Sunday School Basketball Loop

Race Starts Saturday; Formal Opening Ceremony Planned

Fifteen teams will battle it out for the Central Y. M. C. A. Sunday School Basketball League championship this winter. It was announced by William Armbruster, loop president, following a meeting last night at the "Y".

All of last season's dozen clubs and three newcomers met league requirements. The holdover outfits are First Baptist, St. Luke's, St. Paul's, United Brethren, Emmanuel Episcopal, First Methodist, Centre Street Methodist, First Presbyterian, St. John's, St. Mark's, Grace Methodist and Davis Memorial.

The newcomers are Trinity Methodist, Grace Baptist and Calvary Methodist, of Ridgeley.

The league race will start Saturday afternoon on the "Y" court following formal ceremonies. Mayor Thomas S. Post has been requested to attend the opening and throw out the ball for the lid-lifter at 1 o'clock in which St. Paul's defending champs will tangle with First Methodist.

The rest of Saturday's slate is Centre Street vs. First Baptist at 1:55, Episcopal vs. Trinity at 2:50, St. Mark's vs. Grace Baptist at 3:45, Presbyterian vs. St. John's at 4:40, United Brethren vs. Calvary Methodist at 5:35 and Grace Methodist vs. Davis Memorial at 6:30. St. Luke's will be idle.

The regular season will end March 3 after each team has met each other club once. The top four combinations will meet in an elimination series for the title.

Medals will be presented to the members of the championship team while letters will be awarded to members of the all-star team to be selected by the coaches. The ball will go to the team losing the title battle.

It was decided to award a trophy to the player chosen the No. 1 sportsman by the loop cagers. This prize will be presented at the league banquet to be held the fourth week in March.

Each team must furnish a timekeeper and scorekeeper. A committee of Thomas Waller, chairman, J. Paul Fisher and Ray Weatherholt was selected to draw up a schedule of referee assignments. Referees interested in working loop games are requested to get in touch with one of the above trio.

The Midget Basketball League completed organization for the 1944-45 season at a meeting last night and will open the campaign next Sunday afternoon on the SS. Peter and Paul school court.

Seven teams, six from Cumberland and one from Frostburg, posted forfeit fees at the session and the league commissioners, Fred Entler, of Frostburg, and Joe Arnone and Gordon Alexander, of Cumberland, will attempt to line up another club before next time Sunday.

The Diplomats, Sentinels, Allegany Police Boys' Club, Fort Hill Police Boys' Club, Big Five and Pirates are the local teams in the circuit. Mt. Savage had been interested but wasn't represented at the conference.

Four games are planned for Sunday afternoon starting at 1 o'clock. If eight teams are ready, three more will be staged here each Wednesday night and one will be played at Frostburg Thursday.

Each club, provided an eighth team is secured, will play twenty-eight games and the four top outfits at the end of the regular campaign will meet in a round-robin series for the championship.

The league is for boys under 17 years of age and is an outgrowth of the Midget Baseball League. This will be the first season for the court wheel.

Major League Baseball Figures Reach Paris

Joe Moss Wins Praise From Ridgeley Coach

PARIS, Nov. 28 (AP)—Mel Ott, manager of the New York Giants; Frankie Frisch, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Bucky Walters, star pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, and Dutch Leonard, star knuckleball twirler of the Washington Senators, representing baseball's first junket to the European war theater, arrived here today.

They will start a two-month tour of army camps tomorrow accompanied by Roy Stockton, sports writer of the St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Joe Moss Wins Praise From Ridgeley Coach

Rangy Joe Moss, who played right end for the Ridgeley High Black-hawks the past season, has the makings of a great football player, in the opinion of Art Scall, Blackhawk coach.

Standing one or two inches over six feet and weighing 185 pounds, Moss is only 14 years old and in the ninth grade, which means he has three more years of scholastic football. He played every minute of Ridgeley's seven games and according to Scall, never missed a practice.

Cadet Football Camp Hails Dobb's Return

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 28 (AP)—The return of Bobby Dobb to full time duty in the Army backfield brought a new ray of hope into the Cadet football camp today as the unbeaten Soldiers pointed for their first victory over the Sailors since 1938 and their first perfect regular season slate since 1916.

Dobb, a rugged 190-pounder from Tulsa, suffered a torn ligament in his leg shortly before the Duke game. He saw limited service against Notre Dame and Penn. One of the most punishing tacklers on the squad, Dobb will be a welcome addition to the starting lineup in the event that the Cadets are on the receiving end of the kick-off. However, Doc Blanchard will get the call if Army kicks off.

Army-Navy Will Play On Stadium's Birthday

BALTIMORE, Nov. 28 (AP)—In the excitement of the Army-Navy football classic move from Annapolis to the Municipal stadium here, one fact was overlooked—that the date, December 2, will be the twenty-second birthday of the Thirty-third street bowl.

On December 2, 1922, the Army-Marine game—played between teams of the Third corps area, now the Third Service Command, and the Marines from Quantico, Va.—drew more than 50,000 persons to the initial sports event.

Dignitaries were there by the dozens, the secretaries of war and navy, the governors of Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, the commanding general of the marine corps, diplomats and army, navy and marine officials by the scores.

VMI Polishes Offense For Maryland Game

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 28 (AP)—Virginia Military Institute's Cadets continued dummy scrimmaging today against Maryland plays from the six different formations the Terrapins have used this season as Coach Pooley Hubert polished off his offense for the game with Maryland at Roanoke Thursday.

Hubert also stressed protection for punters and passers. Indications are that the battle Thanksgiving day will devolve into an aerial war. VMI Scout Russ Cohen has rated Maryland's Bob Trol as one of the best passers he has seen this season.

Bellamy Will Star In Comedy Drama Tonight on Radio

Vehicle To Assist Young Singers Will Be Offered

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Ralph Bellamy, of the movies and stage, who does quite a bit of broadcasting on the side, will be on the air again Wednesday night. He is to star in Arthur Hopkins Presents on NBC at 11:30 when the play is the comedy "Roadside." It is the same production which in 1930 on the stage brought stardom to Bellamy.

With Jeri Sullivan no longer singer on CBS, her contract having expired, her time has been reassigned. The 6:30 spot on Wednesday is starting "Encore Appearance," announced as a vehicle to give young singers a chance at the microphone. In the first program it will be Neure Jorjorian, lyric-dramatic soprano.

Cantor at Chicago

Like a lot of other network shows which are broadcasting from the Navy pier, Chicago, and its combined war bond Pacific theater show, Eddie Cantor will visit that arena for his NBC broadcast at 9 o'clock. So will the rest of his cast.

For the second of the Inner Sanctums in the new time of 9 Raymont Hoet—err Raymond Edward Johnson—will introduce what he describes as a tale of eerie murder called "Color Schemer."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our father, Ernest
Williams, who died three years ago today,
November 29, 1941.

FOR WHOM WE CARED
The one for whom we cared,
With such undying love,
He found the wondrous shining path,
Up to the home above,
The home where joy forever dwells,
Where loved ones but await
For us to share their happiness,
Beyond the heavenly gates.
